

The Curfew, Again--

Strong on the rebound, our anti-curfew friend down in Ann Arbor, Mr. Kenneth L. Peterson, sallies forth with an extensive reply to the recent, column-length rebuttal we offered on the subject of his original letter.

His second letter, submitted below, is a controversial, but nonetheless masterful retort to the logic we had so hopefully applied to his reasoning on the subject of our curfew law. The letter:

May 10, 1948.
Editor,
Crawford County Avalanche, Grayling, Michigan.
Dear Sir:

I appreciate the lengthy reply that you gave to my letter in your recent edition. The present letter is not intended to extend a point-less debate, but wishes to point out that in your zeal to see you have somewhat misinterpreted one part of my letter and misquoted another part.

Communism was far from my mind when I wrote. And, having lived as a kid under another curfew in Grayling, I have every reason to believe that the present one is a monster of repression. I remember back in those days I and my wayward friends had lots of fun playing tag with the night marshal.

As for the misquote: I said that the city implies that the existing laws dealing with delinquency and crime will surely be broken if the liberty of some of the citizens is not curbed. Neglecting to read that paragraph, has caused you to use an analogy that does not fit the case. I will use your analogy, however, to point out what I meant by that paragraph.

No motorist on the highway is free to exercise every liberty. True. He must at all times obey the laws of the state. Every citizen is free to exercise every liberty. True. Among the motorists there are potential violators. True. Even you and I.

Now apply this reasoning to our delinquents. No person, adult or child, is free to exercise every liberty. Persons must obey certain rules and regulations regarding human conduct. Here again, all of us are potential violators. But, here is the difference. The motorist is at all times free to act under the law. No one bars him from the highway after a certain hour at night, even if under cover of darkness he is quite free to, and regularly, speed that is does violate certain traffic laws.

The child, however, is at liberty, under the set of laws restricting human conduct only during the hours of A-curfew puts every strain upon him and therefore curbs his liberty. Being restricted to the home, he is not allowed the initial liberty to which the existing laws apply.

But this quibbling over technicalities does not get at the point. The point being that apparently there is a problem in Grayling. I am sure, as you point out, that the Parent-Teacher Association is a fine organization. But I wonder how many of the members were concerned over their own children. It does not seem that this thing has been looked at from the right angle. You say, near the end of your column, that (frankly) a curfew exists for the sole purpose of getting the juvenile into his home so he can get the benefit of proper rearing. Furthermore, you admit that parents and their children who never needed a curfew continue to be well-ordered families. If this is so, then you must mean that the curfew is intended for the family and child that needs such a restriction. Really, Mr. Editor, do you honestly believe that a wayward child can get proper parental care in a wayward home? Do you think that sending a child back to the home responsible for making him wayward is ensuring proper rearing?

I think that if you were to study the problem more intently, if this has not already been done, you might come to the conclusion that there are two constructive things that can be done to combat delinquency.

One of these is to provide a place for the youngsters to use up the terrific energy that all kids have. This, of course, is not as easy as just passing a law and closing the playgrounds, both indoor and outdoor, must be provided and equipped. It means that leaders must come forth to organize and direct the youth. It means that the city should pay those leaders at least a nominal sum.

The second approach that I might suggest is aimed directly at the source of delinquency--the home. It means consulting and educating the parents of children. And this is by far the most difficult job of all. It takes time and patience and understanding. It takes extensive and intensive research into the reasons why certain children have become habitually delinquent. As I said before, it takes far more ingenuity, effort, and thinking than that required to pass a law.

Sincerely,
Kenneth L. Peterson.

POPPIES TO HONOR NATION'S WAR DEAD

"Honor the war dead--aid the war's living victims," will be the American Legion and V. F. W. Auxiliary's call to the nation on Poppy Day, May 27, 28 and 29. Crepe paper poppies made by disabled war veterans to be worn in memory of the dead will be distributed by Auxiliary volunteers who will receive contributions for the welfare of disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

Completed plans for the observance of Poppy Day here have been announced by Mrs. Leo Jorgenson, Poppy chairman of the Legion Auxiliary. Volunteer workers from both the V. F. W. and Legion Auxiliaries will be on the streets throughout the day distributing poppies and receiving contributions.

"We want everyone to take part in Poppy Day this year by wearing a poppy in memory of those who gave their lives for our country."

"In the three years which have passed since the end of the war much has been forgotten, but the wearing of a memorial poppy shows that we remember and honor those who did not come back. It is the individual way of paying an annual tribute to the war dead."

"Thinking of the dead makes us think of those who are living in suffering and hardship because of the war--the disabled veterans, their children and the children of those who died. We ask no price for our American Legion Auxiliary poppies but we do ask every one to contribute some thing for these living war victims. This money goes into our American Legion rehabilitation and child welfare fund where it will work for the disabled and children throughout the coming year."

"The women and girls distributing the poppies all will be working as unpaid volunteers, giving their time gladly for the purpose of the poppy. We hope everyone will co-operate with them in the same spirit and make Poppy Day this year an inspiring success."

Remember the sale dates 27th, 28th and 29th of May.

Mrs. E. J. Widman is spending some time at the home of her son, Lee Widman.

PROCLAMATION

White Cane Week
The White Cane, long carried by the blind as a badge by which they may be recognized, has a special significance in Michigan and several of her sister states.

A dozen years ago the Lions Club of Michigan were instrumental in passing legislation to provide for the safety of the blind in the modern world's heavy traffic, by giving the blind person with the White Cane the right of way. The White Cane truly is the traffic symbol of the blind.

It is altogether fitting and appropriate that a period be set aside each year as a continuing reminder to the driving and walking public of their special duty toward those of our less fortunate citizens who walk in darkness. During this period, too, it is important to consider what things can be done to brighten the lives of those who are blind and the others who may be in need of vision, to the end that they may be self-supporting, useful and happy members of society.

Therefore, I, Kim Sigler, Governor of Michigan do hereby proclaim the week of May 18 to 22 as White Cane Week in Michigan, and urge that our citizens become more familiar with the meaning and purpose of the White Cane, and lend every support to this worthy movement.

Kim Sigler,
Governor.
By the Governor,
F. M. Alger,
Secretary of State.

Gaylord made 9 hits and committed three errors while Grayling collected but 4 hits with the same number of misplays.

Mark 30th Year Of Air Mail

For the past week, the Federal Post Office Department has been celebrating the 30th anniversary of air mail service.

The first route was dispatched on May 15, 1918 from Washington, D. C. to New York City, a distance of 218 miles. From this humble beginning, the service has grown until it touches nearly every corner of the United States and also speeds communications to nearly every spot on the globe.

According to Postmaster General Jess Donaldson, the inauguration of air mail service, gave an impetus to the development of aviation and made common place such things as night flying, navigation and landing aids of various sorts.

Although Grayling still does not enjoy the advantages of air mail service, the State Aeronautical Board last week approved a feeder line to Grayling which would tie in this community with the Country Airlines, a new air transportation company.

This new line has proposed routes which will thoroughly cover both Upper and Lower Michigan and in the not too distant future, air mail service may come to this community.

Grayling High School Band Presents Concert

The Junior and Senior Band presented a fine program.

Junior Band started the concert by playing "Twinkle Little Star" by Mozart, "Santa Lucia," Italian Song and "America" and two encores. Our high school is very proud of their up and coming musicians.

The Senior Band played (11) pieces. The first number "Washington Post," by Sousa was well performed, while the new majorities, Lucy Galvani, Betty Kubik, Lou Watkins and Dorothy Watkins twirled. This was the first concert appearance for these four girls.

The girls were dressed in short white skirts and blouses. Poet and Peasant Overture by Van Suppe, was second on the program. (This is a good class B number.) Everyone worked hard on this piece.

Jack Richardson, who recently played in the Navy Band Concert at Alpena, played bass solo, "Beelzebub," by Catozzi, with band accompaniment.

Dick Owen and Lee Nolan gave a fine exhibition of their ability playing "Lassus Trombone," by Fillmore.

Mr. Christian, Grayling Band Director, requested Mr. Stancell, Roscommon Band Director, to direct "Stars and Stripes Forever," (Continued on Page Eight)

A picture taken at Lincoln Lodge Farm during Sigler's campaign for office by Herb Bauer with the silver-haired Kim astride Mallowgold, proved to be one of the most popular that has ever been taken. The beautifully marked horse had reared high on his hind legs, with Kim waving his hat as the shutter of the camera was snapped.

At the Lodge for the week end with the Governor were Auditor General Muriel K. Aten, Harry Henderson of the Liquor Control Commission, Circuit Judge Miles Cullen, Recorder's Court Judge W. McKay Skillman and attorney William B. Giles, all of Detroit;

MAROONED . . . Buffeted by a screaming gale, this trail looking helicopter dropped food supplies to three keepers of the light off Wolf Rock, England, after they had been marooned 26 days.

Call Of the Road By I. DE LA TORRE

His sneakers raising puffs of dust, Billy raced down the path to the lake. Now he stopped, snatched an overhanging branch and clung to it, gasping for breath. After a backward glance satisfied him that the little white schoolhouse no longer showed through the trees, he jerked up his black trousers and shuffled on.

"School!" he mumbled to himself. "I'm sick of it! And if I puts on any more crying acts when I talk about quitting, it just ain't going to do her any good. I could take my age and join the Navy to see the— Nah! too much orders to take. Maybe I'll just drift around, free like a kite."

A thin column of smoke rising from the clearing caught his eye.

"Funny time for anybody to have a fire on the beach," he told himself and dashed across. The two men crouching on the fire turned around as Billy approached. Both wore shabby clothes, and their faces looked as if untouched by water or razor for weeks.

"You — you tramps!" Billy blurted.

The two men looked at each other and the one sitting on an overturned lard can answered.

"Yeah, we're bums. What you doin' here? Ain't yuh supposed to be in school?"

"Sure. Just taking a vacation today," and Billy grinned, pleased with his wit.

The big man who had just spoken picked up a twig.

According to the wage records of the Social Security Administration there are nearly 50,000 William Smiths in the country. No two of them have the same Social Security number.

"You mean go around tramping with you?" Billy broke in.

"Yuh know how tuh ride rails, kid?" Joe inquired.

"Sure—sure I do." Billy wasn't as certain as he sounded, but from what he had seen of "riding the rods" in the movies it looked easy enough.

The first tramp picked up a rusty can and with the aid of a stick propped it in the center of the crackling twigs. He was still poking it into position as he drawled out, "Hey, Joe. Member Horsey Sinder? Just heard other day he lost his leg ridin' omnah Santa Fe. Trampman followed up his blood fer ten miles."

"Mike, wouldjah ast dah kid tuh gimme his shoes? Mine's ain't got 'nuf sole on 'em tuh grind up fer chevin' tobacco."

"Mine?" Billy cried. He held one foot forward for them to see. "These are my only school shoes and I—" "Yeah — yours," Mike snarled.

"Yuh ain't goin' tuh school no more, is yuh?" He started to stand up but Joe motioned him down. "Aw, lettem have 'em. Hell he wear 'em noosppers 'round his feet soon 'nuf. We got 'nother forty below

MIKE grinned broadly and picked up his stick to poke the can. "Chow's on!" he called to Joe.

Billy leaned over and peered into the can. "What—what is it?" he stammered.

"Stewed pig tails," Mike drawled. "Ain't often we get such luck as tuh get such good eat'n as that, do we Joe?"

"Yeah," member dat time we couldn't get guttin but fish heads otk dah garbage pail! Musta been time wasn't much meat 'round."

"Here, kid," Mike was proudly holding up the can. "New members foist. Gobble it down when it's still good'n hot, boy."

"No—no thanks, I—I—" Billy's lips clenched together and his hands went instinctively over his mouth. He shook his head and fled.

Mike dropped the can, threw back his head and laughed until he sank to the ground exhausted. His companion wiped a laugh-tear away.

"What did you do, Mike?" he asked. "Bled out worms!"

Mike nodded. "The fishing was getting terrible, anyway. He rose wearily off the ground. "Come on, let's look for the canoe and start home. And please remember, dear brother, that it's your turn to take mother to a fish dinner at the Seafood Grotto."

Union Responsibility

There is one statement in Judge Goldsborough's decision on the government's case against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers which goes to the heart of the controversy. He said that a union must be held responsible for the acts of its members. He added that it was "ridiculous" that hundreds of thousands of men would walk out of their own volition simultaneously.

It is clear that the law is not yet capable of dealing effectively and swiftly with iron-clad labor monopolies. It is clear that some labor leaders are convinced that they are bigger than the government of the United States, the people of the United States, and the welfare and international prestige of the United States. And there is every reason to believe that attitude will prevail again in the future.

The first step must be to bring labor monopolies within immediate reach of the anti-trust statutes. There can be no excuse whatever for continuing to exempt them from the same laws that protect the people against abuses of power by industry. This view has been taken by Senator Ball, among others, who recently wrote that the "traditional American approach is to break up the concentrations of power by approaches similar to the Sherman anti-trust acts. In other words, to make industry-wide agreements and strikes or lockouts subject to the anti-trust laws." That was done in the House version of the Taft-Hartley Act, but it lost out by a single vote in the Senate.

In any event, the power of a man, a group of men, or an organization to defy this nation cannot be upheld.

A traveler stopped in a small town in the Ozarks and put up at the local hotel. While talking with some of the natives, he started to tell them the story of Andrew Carnegie.

"When Carnegie came to this country he had only 25 cents in his pocket, and when he died, he left more than $25,000,000." "Well," mused an old native, "he must have had a very savin' woman."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Take Your Choice, Neighbor!

The missus—who writes our Woman's Column in the Clarion under the name of "Nancy Gale"—gets letters about recipes, advice on etiquette, home management, etc.

One letter she got last week was about a recipe she published for Welsh Rarebit—made with tart cheese, Worcestershire, and a cup of sparkling tangy beer. "Turned out great," says her correspondent. "But you didn't mention what beverage to serve with it. Should I serve beer? Cider? Iced tea?"

The missus' answer was simply:

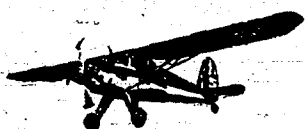

"Any beverage your guests prefer. You don't have to serve cider—any more than you have to serve beer...but it's often courteous to let guests have a choice."

From where I sit, that simple answer applies to more items than Welsh Rarebit. In a world where everyone has different tastes and ideas—we should recognize those differences—and never deny the right of choice to anyone!

ZION LEAGUE NEWS

(Reprinted at the request of Mrs. Dan Babbitt)

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE ZION'S LEAGUE

Berlin, Germany

Dear Zion's Leaguers: As I look out of my hotel window, I am reminded of the great work you are doing and how much we need your help in Germany. All around us is in ruins—not only the buildings but the lives and dreams of a once proud nation.

You are so far from us that it will be hard for me to help you to see what we are seeing. Apostle McConley and I are making a two-month tour of the German Mission.

We have just returned from a Zion's League meeting here in Berlin, so I thought I would write you this letter. The young people from Berlin, Grosssachsen, and Brandenburg were all there. Grosssachsen and Brandenburg are in the Russian Zone, and our young people spent ten hours on a train just to meet with us for an hour and a half. They had to return shortly after the meeting, so you can see they will be quite tired when they get home.

We talked about building a greater German Mission in the next few years, and all the Leaguers were thrilled with the plans we made. When we had finished talking, they all wanted to know, "How soon can we start?" We must rebuild all our church homes as well as homes for our members. The only church left standing is in Grosssachsen, and there we have membership of over 200 Saints. Last year this group baptized thirty-nine members.

There were thirty-one Leaguers present this evening and you should have heard them sing hymns of the church. You would not have been able to understand the words, of course, but you surely would have felt the wonderful spirit. They all seem to sing from the heart.

The church means much to these young people; they have gone through many trials and tribulations. When you lose your home, your family, and your freedom, you have nothing else to turn to except God. I hope that you never have to pass through what they have experienced.

We are planning to build a little church here in Berlin; how soon that will be we don't know, but at least we have plans. Much of this will depend on the help you are now giving and will continue to give. All our branches here are without adequate meeting places, and this is one of our major problems at the present time.

Last year, the Saints in Germany baptized 139 members. They started five new missions, and two more are ready for opening as soon as they get the official O. K.—so you can see they are not missionary-minded. There are missionary opportunities on every hand, and they are taking advantage of these opportunities. I believe that the German Mission will some day be one of our largest foreign missions, the fastest growing one.

One of our young Zion's Leaguers is in charge of a mission church school in the Russian Zone, and the attendance is on the increase. He must travel quite some distance each Sunday, and often he must walk.

We talked with some of the mothers in Berlin; they are the ones who carried on the services while the men were away during the war. Everyone of them had been bombed out once, some twice, and others three times; by the time the war was over, some had nothing left except their faith in God and the church.

Many were the times they had to discontinue services and go to an air raid shelter.

One of the two German missionaries, Brother Alexander Kippy, died during the Russian invasion. Everyone was so occupied with saving his own life that Sister Kippy had to bury him alone in the little garden. Brother John Smolney was superannuated his January, so at the present time I am laboring alone. I hope, however, to soon have a young brother from here working with me.

We see much need for help here in spreading the gospel. If you could only see it as we do, I am sure that you would more than make your share of the goal in 1948. Just think as you give your money that every penny goes to help win another soul in one of the missions abroad. Brother McConley and I have missed only one or two meals since coming to Germany, but it has given us a keener appreciation of what our people are having to endure. Perhaps if you planned to miss one meal each day, you could use this money to give to missions abroad, and it would bring you closer to our needs here. Try this, and see if it won't help you in many ways. Maybe twice a week would be a good start.

I must close my letter, Brother McConley and I are leaving early in the morning for Nuremberg. We have another very active branch there; last year, this little group baptized seventeen persons. Our membership in Germany at the present time is about 1,000... watch us grow! May God bless you all in your efforts to help us in our missions abroad.

Sincerely,
Eugene A. Theys.
P. S.—I told the Leaguers here what you are doing for Missions Abroad, and tears came into their eyes. I knew what they were thinking. Thanks to you from all of us.

Wanted: 167,000 signatures to petitions for a November ballot on Governor Sigler's program for state government reorganization.
That's the latest news at Lansing.

It comes from the newly formed Citizens' Committee for Better Government, headed by Laurent
K. Varnum of Grand Rapids, president. Varnum is a past president of the State Bar of Michigan.

Petitions would place before the Michigan voters a new amendment to the state constitution. This amendment would require merger of the state's 100-plus state agencies and departments into not more than 20 state departments.
The governor would have the right to appoint all department heads. They would serve at his pleasure.

What are these state units.
Here are a few examples: Conservancy, labor, agriculture, aeronautics, banking, highway, health, economic development, public instruction, insurance, apple, cherry, corporations and securities, crimpled children, historical, Mackinac Island, tourist council, public service, safety, racing, teachers' tenure, unemployment compensation, waterways, workmen's compensation, tuberculosis, liquor control, stream control, municipal finance, two state fairs, labor mediation and office libraries, plus a long list of examining and licensing boards.

The Citizens' Committee proposes to center its reform efforts on one amendment.

Left for future consideration—unless present plans are changed —are other reforms rejected by the legislature during the 1948 session: (1) Four-year term for state elective officials; (2) Power for the governor to appoint attorney general and the secretary of state.

Governor Sigler's changes of mind leave both of these reforms up in the air. They may be revised later. Some mention has been made of the possibility that the governor should appoint all officials except the auditor general.

Assuming that 167,000 persons can be induced to sign the petitions—and some citizens have been known to sign petitions without knowing what they proposed—then Michigan voters would be asked to judge the following constitutional changes at the November election: (1) Should a convention be called to revise the state constitution?

(2) Should the sales tax diversion amendment be repealed?

(3) Should present constitutional limitations be removed from salaries of state officials and state legislators?

(4) Should Michigan 100-plus state agencies be merged into not more than 20 state departments whereby the governor would appoint all department heads?

With these proposed reforms, Michigan voters will have plenty to decide in 1948.

Rebuffed by the state legislature which lastly rejected his leading reforms, Governor Sigler has announced he would take the issue direct to the people.

The legislators' decisions indicate that the debate will be vigorous. More centralized power in the hands of the governor will be contested within his party.

Not even the governor's so-called "cabinet" is unanimous in its support. The fight will be lively.

School News

"Our 4-H Program"

We, the sixth grade, celebrated the 4-H Achievement Day at Frederic on Friday, May 1, 1948.
We left shortly after 9 A. M. in the Grayling High School bus.
We were welcomed by Mr. Kuhlman, the superintendent of Frederick school, Mr. Walker, the District Club leader and by the Frederic 4-H members. Later in the morning we went up stairs to see some local pictures taken by Mr.
Walker of last years Crawford County Club members. Also a movie shown by Mr. Kuhlman.
Because of the cold weather we ate our picnic lunch in the gymnasium. The Frederic club gave each visitor pop which was a nice addition to our lunch. Mr.
Barnes opened the afternoon program with a brief talk, after which the Grayling High School German band played several numbers. The dress rehearsal followed and the awards were made. Mr. Walker then made special awards to three last year club members. We were pleased that Dick Owens, our local High School boy won a twenty-five dollar bond. Mr. Walker then announced the count honor roll students in handicraft, electrical work and conservation.

The following boys and girls of our conservation club won county honor: Georgiana Lutz, David Owen, John Grumley, Jacqueline
Griffith, Phyllis Goss, JoAnn
Korhonen, Marvin Bielski, Jack Smith, James Klein and Marilyn Vincent.

On the local honor roll are:
Larry Ashton, Jacqueline Hunter,
Sue LeGrow, Donna Horning,
Charles Decker and Rita Vianaw.
All of our members except one completed the work and because of illness she will receive her certificate when she is able to complete her work. Six of our members received the second year pins for having been in 4-H Club work two years.
